

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

The present invention relates to systems and methods for mitigating pattern collapse in ultra-thin resist processing. In one embodiment, the present invention relates to etching extremely fine patterns into a hardmask immediately after developing an ultra-thin resist, wherein the resist is not dried.

09041241-02301